FORSLAG OM NYTT SPESIALEMNE:
JUS289-2-A INTERNATIONAL CIVIL PROCEDURE

Professor Berte-Elen Konow har satt fram forslag om opprettelse av et engelskspråklig spesialemne på 10 studiepoeng.

Forslaget ble behandlet i studieutvalget den 11. mars på bakgrunn av vedlagte emnemal. Utvalget fattet slikt vedtak i sak 24/14:

Studieutvalget innstiller overfor fakultetsstyret på at emnet JUS289-2-A International Civil Procedure opprettes som foreslått.

Det er usikkert om vi er i stand til å tilby undervisning og eksamen i et emne som kommer inn så vidt sent i planleggingen, særlig på bakgrunn av den ekstraordinære romsituasjonen vi vil ha høsten 2014. Opprettelsen av emnet kan imidlertid gjøres uavhengig av faktisk oppstart.

Litteraturlisten er ikke helt avklart og det forutsettes at den forelegges SU før publisering/iverksettelse.

På denne bakgrunn settes fram følgende forslag til vedtak:

Spesialemne JUS289-2-A International Civil Procedure opprettes fra og med høsten 2014 på bakgrunn av vedlagt emnemal.

Litteraturlisten forelegges Studieutvalget til godkjenning før publisering og iverksettelse av emnet.

For courses in the law programme:
- Course content	There is an old saying that being right and being proven to be right at court are two different things. In the end, the value of rights depends on their enforceability - and on their prior determination in legal proceedings by courts and tribunals. Legal proceedings in international cases raise numerous issues ranging from jurisdiction and procedure in cross-border proceedings to the recognition and enforcement of foreign judgments. Those issues are dealt with by the national law of a country. On the other hand, considerable efforts have been made to unify these rules and to simplify the formalities with a view to a rapid and simple system recognition and enforcement of judgments, both on the international level as well as within Europe. The course deals with the problems raised by cross-border proceedings and the recognition and enforcement of foreign judgments, and with the rules governing these issues. It follows a problem-based and comparative approach. With respect to the rules it will put an emphasis on the Lugano Convention, but also look at relevant EU Regulations and international instruments like Hague Conventions.
- Learning outcome	By the end of the course, students will be able to: • understand the general concepts of international civil procedure, of jurisdiction and procedure in cross-border proceedings, and of recognition and enforcement of foreign judgments; • detect and discuss procedural problems in international cases; • identify and interpret legal sources of international, European and national law, and to apply them to a set of facts.
