

Angeliki Barouti

My name is Angeliki Barouti, and I am a PhD candidate in the Chemistry department.

I have been to UiB for almost two years now, and I have had the chance to connect with many of you and understand the challenges PhD candidates and temporary staff face. That's why I'd like to get involved in the decision-making process and ensure that our opinions and needs will be heard at the faculty level. I'd like to bring a fresh perspective and work collaboratively with the board to create a more supportive and equitable environment for all employees.

I will do my best to help my co-workers, whether addressing day-to-day problems or aiming for larger changes that benefit us all. I welcome any and all conversations, concerns, or suggestions on how to make our working environment better for everyone.
