

Healing Childhoods: Mental Health Interventions for Children Affected by War, Emergencies and Displacement

We are pleased to invite you to the Center for Crisis Psychology (CCP) Conference 2026 — a collaborative initiative between the Center for Crisis Psychology, University of Bergen, and the Children and War Foundation.

Millions of children grow up in the midst of war and armed conflict. The psychosocial consequences are profound, and the need for effective support is urgent. This one-day conference brings together leading experts, practitioners, and humanitarians to explore how we can better understand and support children affected by war, displacement, and disaster.

Through presentations and discussions, we aim to strengthen knowledge, inspire action, and foster collaboration across sectors. The insights gained are not only vital for children living in conflict zones, but also for improving psychosocial support for refugee children who may carry the burdens of war with them after settling in Norway and other countries.

Highlights include:

- Insights into the psychological impact of war on children
- Evidence-based intervention models
- Regional experiences from some of the most war-affected areas in the world,
- Contributions from SOS Children's Villages, UNICEF, Africa CDC, and academic institutions
- A closing panel on challenges and opportunities in the field
