

PROGRAM

Friday, October 4th

09:00 - 09:15: Coffee

09:15 - 10:30: Session 1 - Simon James (Durham University) “Climate Justice: Some Challenges for Buddhist Ethics”

10:45 - 11:45: Session 2 - Matthew Coffay (University of Bergen) “Climate Change, the Non-Identity Problem, and Buddhist Virtue Ethics”

12:00 - 13:00: Lunch

13:00 - 14:00: Session 3 - Yumi Suzuki (University of Bern, East China Normal University) “‘Climate Crisis’ and Political Responsibility in Early Confucianism”

14:15 - 15:15 Session 4 - Anna Deplazes-Zemp (University of Zurich) “Relational Values as a New Concept in Environmental Ethics”

15:30 - 16:45: Session 5 - Elizabeth Cripps (Via Skype) (University of Edinburgh) “‘No kids please, we’re environmentalists!’ Is there an individual climate justice duty to have only a small family?”

19:00 - 22:00: Dinner at TBD

Saturday, October 5th

09:00 - 09:15: Coffee

09:15 - 10:30: Session 1 - Catriona McKinnon (University of Exeter) “Geoengineering: Fantasies of Control”

10:45 - 12:00: Session 2 - Stephen Gardiner (University of Washington) “The Paradoxical Virtues of the Anthropocene”

12:00 - 13:00: Lunch

13:00 - 14:15: Session 3 - David Cooper (Durham University) “Should Buddhists Be Concerned with Climate Change?”

14:30 - 15:30: Session 4 - Colin Hickey (Utrecht University) “Climate Change, Moral Education, and Social Transformation”

15:45 - 16:45: Session 5 - Katie Javanaud (Oxford University) “If Everything is Empty, Can Nature Have Intrinsic Worth?”